About "Sakura Quality "

It is a quality certification system centered on hotels, inns, and other accommodation facilities, in which a third party evaluates the quality of the tourism services provided by the applied accommodation facilities and certifies their high quality.

Sakura Quality is also a domestic certification system that has been selected for the label index compiled by the Japan Tourism Agency to develop travel products related to sustainable tourism.

About "Sakura Quality An ESG Practice"

"Sakura Quality An ESG Practice" certification is an SDG certification mark for accommodation facilities targeting Sakura Quality certified facilities.

This certification standards have been approved by the GSTC. The 17 goals of the SDGs were organized into 172 criteria, and experienced researchers conducted on-site surveys to support thorough efforts. The certification mark is provided to facilities that have been evaluated by the certification body as thoroughly addressing the SDGs in a Japanese way on a daily basis.

Hokkaikan Ohanabo received a rating of 3 out of 5.
